Low tone and hypermobility

Name _____

LetterSchool worksheet pack · free to print and share

Your child has very bendy fingers or low muscle tone. Holding a pencil steady takes extra work, so the hand tires and may hurt. Short practice, good seating and the right tools help.

How to use this pack

1. Set up: Seating and hand warm-ups.
2. Write and rest: Three letters, then rest.
3. Light touch: Pressure practice.

In this pack

Sitting and pencil grip check	page 2
Hand warm-ups before writing	page 3
3-and-rest handwriting: magic c letters	page 4
3-and-rest handwriting: down letters	page 5
3-and-rest handwriting: short words	page 6

Print the whole pack or only the pages you need. Every sheet is also on letterschool.com with tips and other handwriting styles.

Sitting and pencil grip check

Name _____

Card for parents and teachers

A quick check before writing. Comfort and control matter more than one “correct” grip.

1. Feet flat ☐
   Both feet flat on the floor or on a box, knees and hips at about a right angle.

2. Table height ☐
   The table about at elbow height when sitting; forearms resting on the table.

3. Helper hand ☐
   The other hand holds the paper still.

4. Paper tilt ☐
   Paper tilted a little: to the left for right-handers, to the right for left-handers.

5. Relaxed grip ☐
   The pencil held between thumb and fingers, without white knuckles. Short pencils and broken crayons make this easier.

Research shows several grips can give good, fast handwriting. If a grip causes pain or real trouble, ask an occupational therapist.

Hand warm-ups before writing

Name _____

Card for parents and teachers

One or two minutes before writing. Do them together; make it a game.

1. Shake it out ☐
   Shake your hands like you are drying them, fast and then slow.

2. Palm press ☐
   Press your palms together in front of your chest and count to five. Relax. Do it three times.

3. Finger walk ☐
   Walk your fingers up a pencil from the end to the tip, then back down.

4. Spider push-ups ☐
   Fingertips together, push and relax five times.

5. Roll a ball ☐
   Roll a small ball of playdough between thumb and two fingers.

Warm-ups are a fun start, not a treatment. Real handwriting progress comes from practising letters. If writing hurts, talk to your doctor or an occupational therapist.
